Lisa Ullén (b. 1964)

2006-2019

pianist, composer and improviser living in Stockholm, Sweden

Lisa Ullén is a graduate of the Royal Musical Academy in Stockholm, Sweden, where she studied classical piano in the late 1980s and early 1990s. Since the late 1990s, she has devoted herself entirely to improvised music, in the form of free jazz as well as avant garde and contemporary classical and experimental music. Her work is characterized by a combination of virtuosity and simplicity, that rubs off on every musical situation she is involved in.

Born in Seoul, South Korea, Ullén grew up in a quiet small town in northern Sweden. Somehow these oppositions seem reflected in her music, which fuses energetic improvisation with an understated melodic sensibility, creating aural landscapes that transcend easy categorization. Ullén studied jazz piano at the University of Chapel Hill, North Carolina, before releasing her first album as a band leader in 2006. A tour de force of free jazz ensemble playing, Big Bang demonstrated Ullén's ability to bring out the best in her collaborators while never straying from her own unsentimental vision of concrete music.

Since her debut, Ullén has recorded more than a dozen records, amongst the most critically acclaimed of which are her first solo-album, Catachresis, released on American label Nuscope Recordings in 2011, and the double-CD Carve, a collaboration with double-bassist Nina de Heney. In 2014, the disc Look Right, with de Heney and Korean cello player Okkyung Lee, received the Swedish Art Music Award.

A versatile player with a singular musical vision, Ullén has repeatedly proven her ability to imprint her absolute sense for tonal texture on whatever musical context she appears in. Open-minded and adventurous, Ullén to date has collaborated with scores of artists, musicians, and composers, including John Edwards, Nina de Heney, Charlotte Hug, Okkyung Lee, Mariam Wallentin, Maggie Nicols, Torsten Muller, Lina Nyberg, Joe Williamsson, Mishiyo Yagi, Angharad Davis, Lisa Dillan, Sofia Jernberg, Anna Lindal, Lotte Anker, Gavin Bryars, Michael Zerang, Mark Sanders, John Russell, Dave Smith, Phil Minton, Dominic Lash, Tisha Mukarji, and many more. She has performed and toured in Europe, Japan, Canada, USA,

In addition to her recording career, Ullén has been a vital presence on the European experimental music scene, playing concerts all over Europe. She has arranged several impro-music festivals in Stockholm, and co-curated the internationally acclaimed New Perspectives festival in 2012. Always open to boundary-crossings, Ullén's inter-arts collaborations include numerous dance performances, as well as writing the score for several dramatic productions, including the theatre production of a set of poems by Swedish Academy poet Kristina Lugn.

"Extraordinary is all I can say as I dive in to her unique approach. /.../Amazing piano, some of it prepared, which should appeal to fans of John Cage as well as of Cecil Taylor".

Hear Here konsert i Haga Kyrka

Den fantastiska lyhördheten musikerna emellan , skapar ett övertonsskimmer åt de enskilda klangerna samtidigt som detaljerna i Mårten Nilssons bildflöden träder fram som abstrakta tecken. Det är förbluffande vackert
Magnus Haglund, Göteborgsposten

Festen

Korean-born Swedish-raised pianist Lisa Ullen is perhaps the band's key asset. When she plays things happen. She energizes the ensembles with her emphatic Cecil Taylor inspired commentary and jagged comping

Borderlands -Lisa Ullén Quartet

”Det är explosiv frijazz som betar sig lite hur som helst, men med en superb balans mellan struktur och kaos”

PM Jönsson, Göteborgsposten

”Så runder de av dette settet» med Won't Be Late Again», hvor Ullén igjen er i Aki Takase-land, godt blandet sammen med Cecil Taylor, Alexander von Schlippenbach og alle de andre frittgående pianistene. Her er det hun og hennes piano som tar føringen med ytterst spennende spill, sammen med Axelssons trommer og Ölmedals bass..

Ballads of Now and When Nuiversum

"Nuiversum rymmer ett Absolute Avantgarde; stjärnstoffet efter den stora balladsmällen. För att parafrasera Sun Ras gamla slogan ”Space is the place”: Nuiversum är i stället."

Catachresis-solo

"What a pleasure to hear someone play with such gusto and vitality, such dexterity and emotional daring."

Florence Wetzels, Squids Ear

"the lyrically sensitive is brought together with brutal noise in a concept of beauty where nothing is given in advance, in a graceful and bewildering catachresis ".

5/6 Magnus Eriksson SVD

"Extraordinary is all I can say as I dive in to her unique approach. Ms. Ullen prepares the piano in her own way coaxing a variety of unique sounds, creating new sounds and textures along the way. Each of the thirteen pieces explore a different approach or terrain. Each piece is fascinating for different reasons, some abrupt, some intense and some twisted into odd shapes. "Low Voice I" is dark and ominous and deals with those sounds from the low end of the piano". Ms. Ullen also works hard to create bizarre sounds inside the piano, taking her time to craft strange sounds, one or two at a time, each one selectively chosen. Each piece is like entering a new world to explore and evoke different spirits".

Bruce Lee Gallanter, Downtown Music Gallery

"It's like being at the heart of the storm, being whirled around in extremely concentrated yet simultaneously dizzying free jazz".
PM Jönsson-GP

Carve -cd

"The result are sound sculptures, as the album's title suggests, with tonal creations carved out of raw sound material, sometimes familiar, often quite new to the ear, yet each full of wonder, full of surprise and fragile beauty", Stef Gjssel.

"Två fundamentala musiker karvar djupt i tonkonsten. Denna dubbel-cd kommer vara lika viktig för den svenska jazzens historieskrivning som Erik XIV:s ärtsoppa.
Johan Redin, Soundofmusic

REVOLUTION ROCK-Lisa Ullén Quartet

"Ullén demonstrates her absolute sense for tonal values. Treble tones are thrown in like ringing coins into her fellow musicians plump and wide musical hats. There is always precision in the musical explosions. Intelligence in the emotions. ".
Thomas Millroth Soundofmusic

"With Revolution rock pianist Lisa Ullén releases an album with few equivalents in Swedish jazz. It's free jazz, but in an extremely concentrated form. Even when the music's flowing, each tone is significant and important."
Magnus Nygren SVD 6 out of 6

Big Bang-Lisa Ullén Quartet CD

"Exhibits a simplicity which demands precision and boundless trust in an enkelhet som kräver precision och gränslös tillit eftersom ingen maktkamp märks och summan är strörre en delarna. Och det finns inga svaga delar."
Leif Carlsson, Lira

LUDL-cd

en oväntad ad hoc-stämning hör vi sanslöst vibrerande och känslig instant composing av pianisten Lisa Ullén och altosaxofonisten David Linnros- Med små riktninglösa rörelser flyttar de sig runt i ett egenmöblerat rum av ljud och musikaliska figurer som tättnar alltmer. Jag har aldrig hört något liknande.
Thomas Millroth, SoundofMusic

Nu Väntar tiden

Orden blir leksaker, ibland tonsatta i intensiva melodislingor. Ett jag vill möta ett du, genast; vill att väntan ska ta slut, även om nu inte tiden gör det. Barnet har också en musisk låtsaskompis, som spelas av Lisa Ullén och är nog så verklig. Hon skapar stämningar med pianot: hemlighetsfullt mystisk nattmusik eller droppande regnmusik eller ett rent musicerande; personligt, behagligt och föga insmickrande.
Karin Helander SVD

sequenza-koreograferad komposition

Det är raffinerat i sin enkelhet. Instrumentets kropp och klang tänjs ut i rummet, komprimeras och förvrängs. Marie Fahlin drar ut gummiband från flygeln och släpper dem med ett knäppande ljud. Lisa Ullén svarar med eftertänksamma tangenttryck"
Anna Ångström SVD

"För även om det är tydligt vem som är dansare och vem som är pianist är det desto svårare att se vems som påverkar vem när de till exempel bokstavligen och handgripligen spelar tillsammans direkt på flygelns strängar. När de sedan på ett tydligt men raffinerat sätt svarar på varandras uttryck eller när Lisa Ullén ger Marie Fahlin en blick som verkar säga att nu är det din tur att aktivera rummet eller flygeln blir det tydligt att det handlar om ett möte. Det är också därför det hela tiden är fascinerande att försöka följa den komplexa väv av rörelser och ljud som bildas när dansaren Marie Fahlin och pianisten och kompositören Lisa Ullén möts i Sequenza."
Tomas Olsson, Nummer
